MEDITATION COUPLED WITH PRAYER

The early pious ones would meditate (shohim) for one hour before "the prayer" (ha'tefilla).

Mishnah Berakhot 5:1

Most mornings, for close to twenty years, I have sat for a designated period of time observing my breath mindfully (shohim) before commencing my traditional daily prayers. Meditation and formal prayer are complementary.

Through meditation, I gain deeper calm and hone my concentration. I become more aware of the radio stations that most often play in my mind. With focused attention, I steadily turn down the volume, and even experience the greater silence between stations. In quietude, I am more intuitive, open, and loving. Compassion is enhanced by meditation.

Relaxed and alert, my heart opened, I begin to pray.

Prayer's goal is connection. Conversation with God enables me to identify with the Jewish people by quoting words of Scripture and echoing in Hebrew the yearnings, gratitude, and awe that span generations. Traditional liturgy at its best reminds me of what I might otherwise take for granted. It coaxes my awareness of God, and conjures a Divine call. Just as Moses encountered God at the burning bush, so too we experience a surprising moment of awareness when we revisit daily liturgy, with the Amidah (ha'tefilla) as our destination. Meditation coupled with prayer prepares me to hear God's still sliver of voice beckoning compassionate, committed, caring connection with the larger world and God's abiding consciousness. ☆

BEFORE WE PRESS SEND...

It is so important to do our homework. I remember learning as a child that a wise person does not believe everything they read. Spreading false information has always been the most insidious weapon we have to hurt someone or undermine a fair and healthy process, all the more in this age of instant cyber-news when we are inundated with propaganda and rumor from dawn until dusk.

Don't get me wrong – I find it beneficial to get information over the web, particularly because I seldom watch television news. But at least several times a week I receive forwarded emails from friends and acquaintances believing they have something meaningful to share, usually having some emotional connection to Israel or the present state of Anti-Semitism. Most of the time I skim the message to determine if it feels worthy of my concentration, which it usually does not. But once in a while I read something so distorted that I cannot just press delete and move on since I know that the person who sent it to me has sent it to many others and I feel an obligation to do what I can to curtail its spread and reduce any potential damage.

Recently a dear friend sent me a cartoon having to do with Israel and Obama that I found deeply offensive and a gross distortion of the truth. I understand that many Jews the world over feel that this administration's vision for the "peace process" (which is not likely to be resurrected any time soon) could put Israel at a high military risk, which is upsetting to imagine. But I also know that our government, from the White House to the halls of Congress, is thoroughly committed to delivering record funding that supports Israel's ability to have one of the strongest defense systems in the world and has no intention of forcing Israel to make choices that would lead to its demise. The canvas upon which America interfaces with the Middle East in general and Israel in particular is very broad and I try to discipline myself not to focus on a single segment to the exclusion of the entire tapestry.

I recognize that world Anti-Semitism is alive and well, manifest largely through absurd Anti-Israel propaganda fueled by an outspoken minority of radical Islamists and people on the far left and the far right with personal agendas. Our university campuses have been vulnerable to this phenomenon in recent years and it is easy to overlook some of the progress that has flowered out of a commitment on the part of local inter-faith organizations, federations and grassroots student efforts to create settings for productive dialogue and collaboration between people with differing perspectives on the Middle East.

I encourage all of us upon receiving news about an egregious decision made by a politician, an organization, a university, a foundation or any institution - before we respond with the natural instinct to share our outrage with others, to log onto an unbiased fact-site like SNOPEs.com. The Wall Street Journal and the New York Times are also sources for verification because there are gatekeepers who have journalistic standards requiring multiple sources before a story can be published. In the end, there is no perfect truth just like there is no perfect justice. But the ninth commandment, "You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor" mandates that we do our best. ☆

The President's Corner

Joel Kuperberg

Unlike the world in George Gershwin's famous American opera, summer is not a time of slow and "easy livin'" at CBI. Things have been hopping at the shul, and I want to bring a couple of events to your attention.

First, I'm pleased to announce that the Board of Directors has entered into a contract with Robin Hoffman to serve as B'nai Israel's new Director of Education. Robin comes to us with extensive experience and skills, having created and implemented religious school and Judaic curriculum for over sixteen years, and serving as Morasha Day School's Judaic Studies Director for seven years. Robin holds a Master's Degree in Jewish Education, and she is enrolled in the rabbinic ordination program at the Academy for Jewish Religion in Los Angeles. We are very excited to have Robin join us this summer.

As pleased as we are to have Robin become part of the CBI family, I'm equally proud of the hard work and dedication of CBI members in bringing Robin to us. Susan Don chaired the Education Director Search Committee, working with Education Vice Presidents Francine Wenhardt and Dan Koblin, Rabbi Spitz, Cantor Tilchin, and Committee members Marissa Waldman, Michael Adler, Eddie Kotkin and Howard Mirowitz. This Committee reviewed resumes from candidates throughout the United States, conducted several interviews and selected finalists, and then recruited Robin as our chosen candidate. We thank them for their dedication; CBI will be the stronger because of their efforts.

One of the strengths of B'nai Israel is the lay-led programming, as we demonstrated once again at our Yom Ha atzmaut celebration this past May. The shul social hall and grounds were transformed into visions of Israel, from a Bedouin tent to an archeological dig area to videos of modern Israel. Visitors enjoyed Israeli food and wine, as well as dancing, music and other Israel-oriented performances. This event could not have occurred without the efforts and commitment of our Membership Vice Presidents, Mike Mymon and Daveen Myers, and Committee members Nora Stern, Marsha Sklar, Batia Swed, Iris Elzur and Zane Gerber. I'm also pleased to announce that Mike and Daveen obtained grant funding and donations to cover much of the program. LA Partyworks graciously provided the rock climbing wall that challenged so many young (and not so young) CBIs. And we are thankful to have received funding from Ma'alot: a joint project of the United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism's Israel Commission and Nefesh B'Nefesh, and from the Sam and Lillian Marks Special Fund within the Jewish Community Foundation of Orange County.

Finally, I'm excited to let you know that CBI is going green(er), and at the same time making life a bit simpler for all of us. Rather than asking every family to fill out membership forms this year, the office will just be sending out the Annual Membership Support Worksheet, clarifying method of payment for membership. Our new approach should significantly reduce the administrative burden for both members and the CBI office staff,

Todah Rabah

Our CBI Sisterhood is absolutely amazing! Approximately nine years ago, they generously offered to underwrite a fledgling Teachers' Aide Program, now known as the Mercaz Limmud Madrichim Program. We began with only five teachers' aides, and have grown to 36 Madrichim and Madrichim Interns.

We are so very proud of our students. Without the continuing generosity and support of our wonderful CBI Sisterhood, this program would never have come to fruition. We are extremely grateful and appreciative of our CBI Sisterhood members' ongoing commitment, kindness, support, and generosity to our Madrichim Program.

In Proverbs, Chapter 22, we read, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old, he will not depart from it." This is what our Madrichim do – they help our teachers train our children and set them on the path to Jewish learning.

Thank you, members of our CBI Sisterhood for helping us to keep our students involved educationally beyond Bar/Bat Mitzvah. You have afforded them the opportunity to become madrichim, thereby helping to create leaders, role models, and educators, actively involved in our Jewish community, while continuing their own Jewish learning.

Child Development

In May, our teachers had the unique opportunity to attend the "Reflective Teaching & Learning Seminar" at the JCC. Thanks to Peter Blair, Director of Early Childhood Education, Merage JCC, and a grant from the Jewish Federation, which funded our staff and other Jewish Early Childhood Educators in Orange County, we were able to work closely with Marge Carter and Deb Curtis. Marge and Deb are well-known educators and consultants with thirty years of background in Early Learning. They facilitate learning series around the world to engage teachers to think within the framework of Reflective Teaching.

"Reflective Teaching" is based on questioning what we, as teachers do and why, on listening to the children, and thinking about how their ideas (theories) are translated into practice, as well as how practice informs theory. "Reflective Teaching" encourages us to enter into a way of working where professional development takes place day after day in the classroom.

This new professional development series has emphasized reflection, collaboration, and transformation that will enable our staff to become a community of professional learners. The approach is based on a "Kehillah Kedosha", a sacred community in which we are engaged in dialogue with the focused goal of improving our teaching abilities and skills.

The entire preschool staff is onboard and excited to take this next step in our continuing journey to create a school of excellence.

Youth News

Barbara Sherman - Youth Director
Annie Shugarman and
Marcy Shapiro, VPs

I have always loved baseball and now with a three-year-old grandson, I love it in a whole new way and with a different perspective (Go Angels!). I guess it's safe to say I also look at it through a Youth Director's eyes as well. You know, keeping the team strong and united; giving the rookies a fair chance to score and achieve; retiring those who have played long and hard. The pep talks, the rewards, the practice / meetings, the guidance / coaching and then the fun of going out and playing the game...we also have the peanuts and cracker jacks, team shirts, souvenirs, rally monkeys and showing of team spirit. As we can see from the blue team up the freeway, moral support and leadership play a vital role in the successful outcome of a team. Without all of the necessary key factors, team performance and fan attendance drops drastically. Again, through a Youth Director's eyes, our team is thriving because we do have the key factors working for us. Some years we have also won the World Series! True it was due to strong players but the motivation and support from behind the scenes is a must. For us that is Rabbi, Cantor, staff, CBI Board, parents, region and congregation. With that kind of support, our kids at the plate and in the field are destined for a victory. We even need the young bat boys and girls (Kadima and Machar) to be an active and vital part of our team. When I look back at the last 20 years that I have been with the Youth Department, several things continue to amaze me: our team is always full, and we always a big behind-the-scenes team. Coaches change from time to time but no one ever really lets go of the team totally. To me a family and a team are the same; it is a unit full of love, devotion, care and commitment to each other. Our game is the game of life and it is played everyday under every circumstance. Some days it is hard to play but again, the team rallies together and overcomes the slump. I am continuously struck at how this team has worked so well for so long under all conditions. We are also always in training for the next game. Our Youth Department is year round and we are heading into our summer season - Camp Bnai Ruach. The days are longer, hotter and more intense but, so is the outcome and the connections. And then, as soon as the summer season ends, we go right back into our traditional season from August to June. We invite each of you to come to a game.

CANS? BOTTLES? Leave them for USY!

We'll take your cans and plastic water or soda bottles and recycle them! Just leave them in the marked containers left in the Social Hall, Courtyard and USY Lounge!

Whatever role you take with the team you will enjoy the game, be moved by the team spirit and impressed by each of the players. We also have a program for the youngest players from newborn to Pre-K: Little Shul. It's like the minor leagues where the inspiration and introduction begins. Watch for our fall opening schedule. Please continue to support your home team; it truly does make a difference in the outcome of the game.

Sisterhood Says...

Written by Ruth Abers

Please note: Both this article and the article for the May/June edition were written by Ruth Abers who graciously compiled all information regarding Sisterhood's Rosh Chodesh Program.

Sisterhood's celebrated Rosh Chodesh Program has been a most enjoyable activity this year. We've looked forward to what the new month might bring, and shared our hopes and memories. We've been given the opportunity to share the experiences of brave and pioneering women, whose efforts have enriched our lives and cleared paths for us. We have traveled to Israel and Central America and Shanghai. Our holidays have been enhanced by hearing how others celebrate them.

On June 2, we celebrated Rosh Chodesh Sivan, which brings us the Holiday of Shavuot. We began with remembering the 28th of the previous month of Iyar, which is Yom Yerushalayim, the day that Jerusalem was reunified during the 6-day War in 1967. Our holidays are modern holidays, too.

As we went around the room introducing ourselves, we were asked to comment on our 'favorite' Commandment (yes, it was almost Shavuot). It was very interesting, mostly serious. The fifth Commandment, "Honor your father and your mother," was the most frequent choice. What would yours be?

Ingrid Gallin, whose family caught the last train out of Berlin, told us of growing up in Shanghai, along with about 20,000 other Jews who had escaped Nazi persecution. We learned of days of school and friendships, and times that were frightening and uncertain. We had a personal glimpse into a community unfamiliar to most of us.

We did, of course, eat and talk and enjoy each other's company. And

Please donate the little bottles of shampoo, conditioner, lotion, soap etc. to our Sunday Suppers. We will be preparing kits for the homeless so they can be better prepared to look for work and take care of themselves.

As you know our synagogue continues to participate in Sunday Suppers at St. Paul's Episcopal Church on the SECOND Sunday of each month. While some months are sponsored by different groups within our synagogue community, we welcome all members to participate in this worthwhile activity of cooking and feeding the needy. Please call the office to reserve a volunteer space at an upcoming Sunday Supper on the SECOND SUNDAY OF THE MONTH. Many families find this activity to be an opportunity for parents and children to contribute together for a worthwhile cause. Thank you to all who have made this a huge success

PLEASE CONTRIBUTE TO THIS worthwhile cause by putting some boxed or canned groceries or paper goods in our box next to the Sisterhood shop. We really need your help with this.

A national group, "Families Promise", will be opening its doors to people in need in Orange by October 1, 2011. This is a much larger endeavor in as much as they will have a child care center, counseling, boarding, and job preparations. They need volunteers to help paint, get play equipment, etc. so that they will be ready to start operation in October. If you have time or opportunity to participate in we all look forward to more Sisterhood events!

My CBI Story

By Bonnie Wideman

Neil and I joined CBI in 1993, a week before the congregation moved to Bryan Avenue from a warehouse on B Street. We had also just moved—from South Pasadena to OC, and chose CBI because of its warmth and vibrancy.

We joined a chavurah and began to meet people. I served on the Sisterhood and CBI Boards. Five months after our daughter, Courtney, was born in 1997, we found ourselves entrusting her to the care of the loving teachers at CBI's newly formed preschool.

When Courtney turned five, we brought her to High Holiday services and she fell in love with Junior Congregation. I began bringing her to Junior Congregation almost every Shabbat, which meant I also started attending services regularly for the first time in my life. Soon Neil joined us. We weren't familiar with much of the service, but we enjoyed Rabbi Spitz's "out-of-the-box" sermons, and when Cantor Tilchin arrived a year later bringing music to CBI, we were hooked.

Our daughter, Danielle, was born in 2004 and we were back to preschool again. Preschool gave way to religious school, and as the religious, educational, and social programming grew at CBI, we grew along with it. Neil took Hebrew at CBI. I studied with the rabbinic interns. CBI was fast becoming our home-away-from-home. This is clear from the way our children run around the synagogue with no shoes on!

Then, in 2008, my mother passed away, and we discovered what it really meant to be part of a Jewish community. CBI members supported us in so many ways. Mourning was followed by simcha, when one year ago, Courtney became a Bat Mitzvah. It was one the most thrilling moments of our lives.

I'm now back on the CBI Board, having come full circle. A lot has happened in our 18 years at CBI, but in some ways, it feels like it's just the beginning. ☆

Membership Moments

Mike Mymon and
Daveen Meyers, VPs

On May 15th over 200 CBI members and guests celebrated Israel's Yom Ha'atzma'ut (Independence Day) and enjoyed a virtual Israel on the grounds of CBI. Attractions included an Israeli booth, market, food, wines and music; a Moroccan and a Bedouin booth; a 24' rock climbing wall simulating the rocks of Ein Gedi near the Dead Sea; an archeological dig; Israeli folk dancing; a balloon artist; a magician and much more. Many thanks to all the volunteers that helped bring the Magic of Israel to CBI.

Membership hosted the CBI booth at the JCC's Israel Expo on May 22nd. Nearly 200 guests stopped by our booth and wrote a note on the simulated Kotel (Western Wall) that we mailed to Jerusalem to be placed at the Kotel. We thank all those that helped us greet our guests at the booth.

Membership is getting ready for the 3rd Annual Membership Event on August 28th (5-8 PM). Please save the date on your calendar and stay tuned for additional information in the weekly e-mail blasts as we near the date of the event.

CBI Interest Groups include weekly Mah Jongg and Israeli Folk Dancing; a monthly Book Club, Yiddish Club and Hiking and periodically, an Art & Entertainment Club and a Career Transition Support Group. We hope you will participate in these and the many other programs/activities available to our members. ☆

It's all about Ritual

Phyllis Abrams and
Bonnie Widerman, VPs

Written by Terry Ginsburg

The minyan, which in Hebrew means "to count, or to number," is an integral part of our lives as committed Jews and provides the ritual framework in which we come together as a community to sanctify God. Not only does it serve to raise the spiritual level of the community as a whole, it also touches us as individuals, especially when we are in mourning or observing a yahrzeit.

Mishna Megillah (chapter 4, verse 3) is explicit about those ritual acts which require a quorum of 10. Among those specified are reading from the Torah, recitation of the Priestly blessing, reading haftarah (from the prophets), saying any kaddish including mourner's kaddish and making a mezumen (extending an invitation) for Birkat hamazon.

By forming a minyan of worshipers and making it possible for the mourner to recite Kaddish, we are showing that person that he or she is not alone and that his/her personal loss is shared by the community. Every Sunday morning, at 9:10 AM, congregants gather together to form a minyan in the shul's Bet Midrash. This service, which lasts approximately 45 minutes, is entirely lay-led and serves the needs of our synagogue's community on many levels. For some it is a place to improve their weekday davening skills. For others it is a chance to read Torah without the pressure of a large audience. More importantly, it provides a venue for congregants to recite the Mourner's Kaddish.

As we move into summer, it will become increasingly difficult to gather sufficient worshipers to make a minyan on Sunday morning. Nevertheless, there will still be a pressing need for a minyan so that fellow congregants can worship together as a community and pray for their departed loved ones. Please join us in making this important mitzvah possible. ☆

Der Yidishe Vinkle

Club Yiddish Carl Bendroff

My baleepteh (beloved) readers, last time I wrote about how I chose a gang of sports phobic geeks for my P.E. basketball team. Yey-der-er (They were all) too scared to play. And their constant kvetchn (complaining) was meshuge makhndik (driving me crazy).

"Zorgaykhnisht (stop worrying)," I said. "I just figured out the trick to win. And it's right up here." I tapped my temple.

"Vos retst du epes, (What are you talking about) Carl?" Nicky Nobel asked. A chocolate milk bubble blew out his left nozlokh (nostril), floated above his lipn (lips), and popped. He wiped the milky-mess on Muscle-Les Metursky's sleeve.

"ssorG," said Muscle-Les.

Stan grabbed Les's sleeve. "Look," he said. "Here's proof keyner kenen (none of us can) play basketball."

"Far vos nisht (Why not)?" I asked.

"Cause our lunch wasmilkhig (dairy) and the basketball's fleishig (meat)...it's covered in cow skin. Nu (So)? Don't tell me you forget about the meat and dairy rule."

"Stan's right," Nicky said. "Hey Coach Klowksi, you got any pareve (non-dairy, non-meat) balls?"

Coach Klowksi potsht (slapped) himself on the shtern (forehead). "Darf min gehn in kolledj (For this I went to college)?" he asked.

"I'm not playing this treifig mahtsh (unkosherballgame)," Stan said. He walked back to the bleachers, followed by the rest of my team.

"C'mon, guys. Don't be suchapikorsim (cynics)! I promise we'll all be winners. This'll work like magic," I said. "Biteh (please), just let me explain."

"Carl, es vet gornit helfen (nothing will help) us!! We're a bunch of neh'-bishn (losers)," Nicky said, as a double chocolate milk bubble blew out both of his nostrils.

Next time: Will the team listen to Carl's magical epiphany?

Until then, zei gezunt (be well)!

Bat Mitzvah of Tara Steinmetz

July 9, 2011 (7 Tammuz)

Tara is an honor student at Pioneer Middle School in Tustin; where she will be entering 8th grade in the Fall. She will be continuing her involvement and love of art in Pioneer's Art Production Program. Tara spends much of her spare time dancing. She has been dancing since age three, and has participated in dance competition groups with Pacific Dance Studio for the last three years. Tara enjoys reading, being creative, traveling with her family, and would love to sleep in more. For Tara's Mitzvah project she was able to share her love of reading by organizing community book drives to benefit Tustin Unified School District's Kindergarten Readiness Program. She collected over 1,600 books and was able to share some of these donations with

CHOC Hospital and Miller Children's Hospital. She also enjoyed reading to the kids at the Kindergarten Readiness Program. Tara will be continuing her Jewish studies in Hebrew High and her involvement with USY. Tara looks forward to sharing this special day with family and friends from near and far, including her great grandmother, Adeline Cohen, her grandparents, Barry and Joanne Hanik, and Martin and Barbara Steinmetz, as well as her parents, Barry and Robin, and her sister, Abby. His love for music is expanding as Andrew is playing clarinet in the school band and learning piano at home. For his Mitzvah project, Andrew chose to help feed people that have fallen on hard times. He worked diligently preparing and serving meals for these families and spent time talking and giving hope to these people. His experience put a smile on their faces and filled his own heart with pride. Our family is very excited for Andrew's upcoming Bar Mitzvah and being able to share our pride with all of our family and friends. Mazal Tov! ☆

Bar Mitzvah of Benjamin David Don

For her Mitzvah Project, Arielle has done several things. First, she is participating in the Remember Us Project, which offers students the opportunity to connect with the memory of children lost in the Holocaust, and to keep their memory alive. Accordingly, her Bat Mitzvah and her Mitzvah Project is being done in the memory of Diane Lejwa, a child who was killed in the Shoah in the Warsaw Ghetto when she was 8 years old.
