RABBI SPITZ'S MESSAGE

Why I Love the Psalms?

I love the Psalms. In some ways, it is a new found love. I have chanted Psalms as part of traditional prayer, but only recently did I begin to delve deeply into these spiritual poems. I did so, because of Zoom and participants who have motivated me to spend hours in preparation for each of our half-hour classes.

When COVID shutdowns began in March, I considered that in times of distress our tradition directs us to chant these poems to God. So began a Zoom class for a half hour three days a week to study one Psalm at a time. It had never occurred to me before to teach only a half-hour class due to the investment of time needed to get to the synagogue. Now with Zoom, I began to come to my fellow learner's homes and with no driving time!

Preparing for each of the Psalm classes is a journey. I begin by delving into as many as ten translation to uncover the Psalmist's message and artful weave. I then craft my own translation. Doing so has sharpened my awareness of how Hebrew and English differ. In Biblical Hebrew, there are only two tenses: perfect (past and present) and imperfect (present, future, and jussive/let's). As a result, translations differ as to tense. Also, in Hebrew there is no capitalization of pronouns. When the text says "he" the translator is left to discern if God or a person is the focus. Here too, translations are interpretations with distinctive choices. And last, Hebrew's vocabulary is much more limited than English, which has absorbed vocabulary from many languages. When the verb used is shelach, possible translations can be send, cast, throw, or fling- each conveying in English a subtle nuance. And by virtue of a more limited vocabulary with shared roots for multiple meanings, Hebrew allows for more wordplays. Remarkably, there are in Hebrew many more names for God, each a metaphor.

What makes Psalms distinctive is precisely that they are written to God and meant to be heard by spiritual peers. As a result, the words are often profoundly personal and honest and seek both to convey yearnings of the speaker and to uplift or challenge others. Reading the Psalms is a form of prayer, an expression that begins with the self and then goes beyond the self. The authorship of any Psalm is unknown, although close to half are attributed to King David, who reigned over three-thousand-years ago. Most of the Psalms, scholars teach, were written much later than King David, but ascribed to him as both a model king and as a singer of hymns to God. In each class, our study leads to the question, How are these words personally relevant? Consistently, the Psalms resonate as giving voice to essential aspects of our own lives.

All of my presentations are posted on our website. On our Home page, click on Psalm a Day listed on our Highlighted Events list. Please consider joining me for a class on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday at 9:30am. And if you would like to learn at your convenience, please check out the zoom recordings. We are now in the middle of the Psalms. I intend to complete the entire set of 150 before ending my tenure at CBI in September.

To study the Psalms is to fall in love with spiritual expression and to more fully appreciate that we are bearers of a rich legacy. ☆

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

PHYLLIS ABRAMS

As the new President of CBI, I wanted to wish all of you a happy and healthy 2021, with the hope and prayer that the coming year will see the world, our country, and our community making positive steps towards sequestering the pandemic out of our lives.

I have lived in Tustin since 2002 and have been a member of CBI for over 25 years. I first found CBI when we were in the B Street warehouse and very quickly our synagogue became an integral part of my life. CBI was where the stage was set for me meeting my husband of almost 16 years, Steven Littman. Steven's daughter Julie, was studying for her adult Bat Mitzvah at CBI and Steven would accompany her to many Shabbat morning services. During one such service Steven saw me and asked his daughter if she knew who I was and although our official introduction was via JDate, we still think of CBI as the backdrop to our meeting. I have always tried to be an active member at CBI and have served as co-VP for the membership and ritual committees and as a general board member. I am also very proud to be a Shamash on the 2nd Shabbat of each month.

I have been in Southern California since 1978 but my roots are in New Jersey and New York where most of my family lives. However, thanks to Steven I now have a west coast family with two beautiful granddaughters: Zoe and Mia.

While 2020 is now behind us, the crater effects from Covid-19 persist, along with the anxiety of uncertainty. Who knows when we might be able to join hands, attend services together, or have a family Seder. CBI will continue to utilize the various platforms of social media to keep us connected and pointed towards enriching our spiritual lives and a better tomorrow.

SWEETHEART BLANKETS

Plan to join in on this fun project for a good cause.

Blankets will be donated to local homeless shelters.

YOUTH PROGRAMMING

EMILY FISCHER, DIRECTOR

Happy New Year!

It has been absolutely delightful these past few months to see our teens and youth on Zoom every week as they continue to create and enjoy fun, innovative virtual programs. While our activities this year look different, I'm thankful the enjoyment stays the same. I look forward to continuing our virtual programming (and can't wait until we can be together in person again) and hope that even more CBI youth join in on the fun as the year progresses.

The Purim Carnival is the CBI Youth Department's big fundraiser, and I'm excited for our drive-thru Purim Carnival to come to life on Sunday, February 21st. Everyone is invited to drive-thru and to pick up Mishloach Manot. Your support of our events and donations to youth programming are greatly appreciated.

We've started a membership drive, and members can now earn points just for showing up and for bringing friends! Sign up to become a member and view our extended calendar at our teen-created and teen-run website, cbiusy.com. Text "@cbius" to 81010 to register for text reminders and event links.

L'Shalom - Emily

CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER

SHARON ALKIN, DIRECTOR

This past year was unlike any other year here at the preschool. While much was the same, much was different too. Gone were the days when parents could walk into school to drop off their children, sometimes staying behind for a quick chat with other parents or popping into the classroom to read a story to the children. Gone were the days of everyone coming together to celebrate Havdalah and Shabbat together either in the Sanctuary or outside in the garden. Gone were the days of children running to hug a teacher not in their class. Hello to wearing masks, hello to only children and teachers entering the school, hello to families standing six feet apart for drop off and pick up. Hello to daily temperature checks and health questions, hello to leaving home shoes outside and putting on school shoes. At first it was all very strange and different, and now as the school enters its seventh month of being open during COVID, we have adapted and adapted beautifully.

The preschool remains open and the children continue to thrive, proving to us all how resilient they truly are. The school is filled with laughter, songs, and learning. How grateful and lucky I am as the Director to be surrounded by teachers who put aside their fears and come to work each day with a smile on their faces, albeit underneath their masks, to do the work they love to do. They too have adapted, grown stronger, and found new and creative approaches to teaching, given all the protocols and procedures now in place. As we continue to navigate through all the unknowns in this new world, we feel fortunate to be able to offer some semblance of normalcy to our students and their families, and do not take for granted the remarkable opportunity to explore, create, and play with the children each day.

Wishing you all health and a happy new year!

B'not Mitzvah of Abby & Kayla Jacobs

January 16 (3 Shevat)

Abby is an 8th grade at Carl Hankey IB Academy in Mission Viejo. Kayla is a 7th grader at Ladera Ranch Middle School in Ladera Ranch. Both girls are on honor roll at their respective schools. For their Mitzvah Project, the girls sewed and donated thousands of masks for; hospitals, local businesses, nursing homes, the CA National Guard, Native American tribes, CBI congregants, and private individuals across the globe. The girls are disappointed not to be able to celebrate their b'not mitzvah with family and friends and they look forward to a traditional celebration after the pandemic.

Bar Mitzah of Cooper Masler

January 23 (10 Shevat)

Cooper William Masler, born on November 18th, 2007, is the compassionate and caring second of Greg and Sharon's three sons. Cooper is a 7th grader at Newhart Middle School in Mission Viejo. Cooper's hobbies include Karate, skate boarding, and being a sometime caretaker of the family's pet cat Dexter (and his kid brother Matteo). Cooper has had limited opportunity to volunteer due to Covid-19, but he and his father volunteered for a Sunday Supper program event through CBI. Cooper is looking forward to future opportunities to help the needy. Cooper's parents are incredibly proud of Cooper's hard work and resilience in preparing for his Bar Mitzvah.

Bat Mitzvah of Leah Green

January 30 (17 Shevat)

Leah is a seventh grader at Columbus Tustin Middle School where she attends the STEAM Magnet Program. Her favorite subjects in school are Science and English as she wants to be an astronaut and an author. She may be a published writer first as she is currently completing her first science fiction screenplay. When she is not studying and writing, Leah also loves to care for and ride horses at Irvine Regional Park. For her Mitzvah Project, Leah is providing residents at Bubbe and Zayde's Place with pen pal letters to boost spirits during these difficult times.
