RABBI GOLDSTEIN MESSAGE

As I sit down to write my article for the bulletin, I am realizing that this will be the last time I write to you as the rabbi (albeit interim) of this community. Being here these past few months with this community has been a great honor and blessing for me. I have thoroughly enjoyed my time here in this community. I hope that I have been able to give to you a fraction of what you've given to me. As a community, and as individuals, you have renewed my faith in Jewish life in a much greater way than you may ever know.

As I take my leave, I'd like to do one more teaching if I may. The rabbis tell us that whenever two people take their leave of each other, they should impart to the other a piece of torah. One of my favorite stories in the Talmud encapsulates what I see as the role religion and spirituality should play in our lives. It's a story of two rabbis traveling on the road by donkey, one the teacher, and the other a student. The student wishes to illustrate what he's learned from his teacher, so they stop their donkeys, and the teacher sits down on a rock to listen.

We do not know what exactly the student says to the teacher, we are not given the text of his recital. All we are left with is the reaction from what he has just expressed.

The Gemara illustrates the response, "and fire descended from heaven and encircled all the trees in the field, and all the trees began reciting song." Nature and heaven come together to celebrate that which the student has just expressed, his words creating a harmonious miracle. His teacher, staggered from what he heard, rises up and kissed his student on his head, and said, "Blessed be God, Lord of Israel, who gave our father Abraham a son like you... There are some who expound the Torah's verses well but do not fulfill its imperatives well, and there are some who fulfill its imperatives well but do not expound its verses well, whereas you expound its verses well and fulfill its imperatives well."

This is the highest praise a teacher can give a student. That not only have they come to understand and absorb the material they've learned, but that they integrate that knowledge and wisdom into who they are, to make themselves better people. This is the goal of all religion, to not only bring us to a higher level of understanding, but to be able to use that understanding to make us better people at our core.

I love this story because of what I think it says to us today. It is not enough to pursue religion or spirituality for our own sake. It is our moral imperative as people who identify with "organized religion" to take what we've learned and use it to open ourselves up. If religion doesn't open both our minds and hearts, then we're not doing it right.

In another part of the Talmud, the rabbis speak of a blessing they would give to one another as they left the study hall. Having finished their time learning together, the rabbis would send each other off with a blessing until they would be reunited. This blessing has become arguably my favorite blessing, I've given it to each of my children at their baby naming/bris on the eighth day of their lives, and I've come back to it many times for happy occasions. I'd like to leave you with those words.

May you live to see your world fulfilled,

May your destiny be for worlds still to come,

May you trust in generations past and those yet to be.

May your heart be filled with intuition and your words be filled with insight.

May songs of praise ever be upon your tongue and your vision be on a straight path before you.

May your eyes be illuminated with the light of Torah and may your face reflect with the brightness of the heavens.

May your lips speak knowledge and inner self find joy in righteousness.

May the soles of your feet run to hear the words of the Ancient of days.

L'hitraot,
Rabbi Goldstein

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

PHYLLIS ABRAMS

As we move into spring, we have much to look forward to at CBI. The COVID-19 Omicron surge has (for the moment) subsided, and while there may be other variants lurking on the horizon, we are beginning to return to what we all thought of as normal, BCE: Before the Covid Era.

We recently had an extended Purim celebration that kicked off with our USY car wash, a well-attended Purim carnival and a rousing Purim shpiel. Pesach will be here in a matter of weeks with a return to having a community Seder at CBI on the 1st night. It really does feel like a return to normal.

Looming large on the horizon is the arrival of our new Rabbi - Adam Greenwald - at the beginning of July. We will be sad to bid au revoir to Rabbi Goldstein and are grateful for his leadership and guidance over the past months. We will miss his energy and thought-provoking sermons, as well as his sense of humor, and hope he will come back and visit us with his bride, Maureen.

Our Board continues to be a huge support for me, and I am hopeful we will be able to resume in-person meetings soon. While a virtual meeting does have its benefits (attendance is way up!), I miss the interaction that takes place when we are together.

Last, I ask all of you to consider serving as a volunteer on a committee. Why is this important? We all recall in the Torah when Moses' father-in-law, Yitro, strongly suggested that Moses could not do the work of Ha'Shem alone and would need delegate to those around him. We are blessed to have board members that work well together, but they cannot do it alone, either. Whatever your passion or your favorite activity, we have a place for you. Membership, Social Action, Youth, Women's Club, Men's Club – we would love to include you.

Exciting times for all of us! We hope to see you in shul and in the interim, all the best for a zissen Pesach, a sweet and meaningful Pesach filled with family and friends.

She really enjoys spending time with her lacrosse and school friends. She has a soft spot for all animals which is why she adopted two adult guinea pigs that needed a new home. She also decided to do her Mitzvah Project at Hemopet Greyhound Rescue and Adoption Center where she is collecting stuffed animals, dog toys, towels, blankets and comforters for these sweet dogs.

Bat Mitzvah of Leah Green

June 25, 2022

26 Sivan 5782

Leah Green is excited to celebrate her Bat Mitzvah.....again.....but this time surrounded by her family, friends, and CBI community (since COVID created a "special" solo experience the first time around). Leah is currently an eighth grader at Columbus Tustin Middle School in a Math and Science Magnet Program and will be heading off to Foothill High School in the Fall. She is on the Board of CBI's growing USY program and loves attending services and youth events at shul.

When not planning her future as an astronaut, she can usually be found at the Irvine Regional Park horse stables, either taking lessons or doing volunteer work, caring for abandoned horses and those with challenging medical conditions. Her three siblings, Clara (6th grade), Ella (4th grade), and Noah (1st grade) are looking forward to her Bat Mitzvah, especially the Israeli dancing that they all learned at Camp Alonim and Camp B'nai Ruach and practice often in the living room. She would like to thank her CBI teachers, tutors, and friends for helping her reach this very special day (once again).

Celebrate Israel with the CBI Religious School and SAM GLASER!

Sunday, May 1, 2022, at 12:00pm.

The Religious School is excited to bring SAM GLASER to celebrate Yom Ha'Atzmaut with a fabulous concert! Our concert, originally scheduled for 2020, will feature our own students joining Sam for several songs that they have been learning during the past two years.

We are grateful for the Daniel Zembrosky Youth in Arts Fund, our generous sponsor for this event! The CBI community is invited to join us in support of the religious school and the Zembrosky Fund, for future concerts and projects.

Tickets are $18/adult and $10/child.

Religious School families are free!

Please RSVP today on our website: www.cbi18.org
